Excerpt from Student's Handbook of Accounting: Solutions to Questions in Theory of Accounts, Practical Accounting, and Auditing Contained in Elements of Accounting "Elements of Accounting" was published in June, 1913. As stated at that time, it was written mainly "to bridge the gap between bookkeeping and accounting." That it has filled a real need is evidenced by the friendly reviews and comments of accountants, teachers, and lay critics. The hearty reception which has been accorded to it has necessitated three editions within a period of about a year and a half. At the request of many students and teachers, the publishers arranged with the author to produce authoritative solutions to the practical exercises appended to the respective chapters in "Elements of Accounting." To enhance the value of these solutions they have been cast into what may be termed C. P. A. form. Moreover, there have been included references for those who wish to make a further study of the points treated in the different solutions. This supplementary research material has been included in the belief that it will be welcomed by the ambitious student. This handbook should be used in connection with "Elements of Accounting." Such correlation, however, is not absolutely essential because of the fact that the exercises of the accounting text have been incorporated in the present volume. For obvious pedagogic reasons, each question is immediately followed by its answer or solution. The solutions to Groups II will probably be employed by many as much for the forms displayed and illustrated, as because they constitute solutions to specific practical accounting problems. The entire volume may be employed as a special or supplementary text in Accounting. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. The book contains a collection of papers dealing with a range of controversial accounting issues which exercised the minds of local authority officials during the period 1909-1934 and the "solutions" embodied in the Accounts (Boroughs and Metropolitan Boroughs) Regulations 1930. The contributors to the debate were mainly local government officials and the items reproduced cover a wide range of matters such as the content of the abstract accounts; the need for standardization and an illuminating comparison of the nature and contents of municipal accounts with those of limited companies. A number of issues which received close attention from the literature during the early part of the present century were related to the growth of municipal trading undertakings (water, gas, tramways and electricity). The pricing of these services was a matter of considerable debate; questions included whether these services should be priced to generate a profit, break-even or receive a subsidy from the rates. The depreciation question and the related issues of loan periods and the need for a sinking fund receive some attention as do the growing concern of municipal debt.
